

AUG 17 1921

©CIL 16878

A RUNAWAY MATCH

Story by Kingsley Benedict

Pretty Beatrice Monson is the maid in a beautiful home, while her daddy, an old fashioned Irishman, is the gardener. Beatrice has made up her mind, while her employer is away, she will play the role of a daughter of the house and vamp George, whom she has seen driving around in a swell car. George is only a chauffeur and pretty Bee doesn't know this as George has always led Bee to believe he was wealthy, and George also decides that it's about time he relieves himself of work by marrying into wealth. They both decide to dress up and each in turn visit the $1.00 down and balance when-they-catch-you shop and doll up. In a series of amusing events which follow George is fired and the proprietor's son, who is jealous of George notifies his father that he had better get the suit back as George will be unable to pay for it. George and Beatrice in the meantime decide to get married and on their way to get married when the proprietor of the clothing shop is discovered chasing them. The race finally ends up where divested of their unpaid-for clothes George and Beatrice are finally married in bathing suits.

This document is from the Library of Congress
“Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection,
1912-1977”

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004>

Class M Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002>

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress